"The Challenge of Positive Leadership in World Affairs" has been designated as the theme of this year's World Affairs Institute.

Milton Lomask, the first of six internationally known figures, will lead off the Nineteenth annual program with "The America President as a Free World Leader", October 7th.

Lomask is the author of several widely read books on United States history including, "Andrew Jackson: President on Trial", published in 1960. Lomask, a resident of Washington, D.C., is currently doing research on a three-volume biography of Aaron Burr.

Sir Muhammed Zafrulla Khan, a practicing lawyer, mediator in international disputes and presently a judge of the International Court of Justice, will be the featured speaker October 14th. He will discuss "Southeast Asia: Crucible of Communism."

U. N. Representative

From 1941-47, Khan was judge of the Federal Court of India and spent 1942 as Agent-General for the government of India in China. In 1947 he was appointed minister of the new country, Pakistan, and led the Pakistanian delegation at the United Nations General Assembly from 1947-54 and the UN Security Council from 1948-51.

Gateway Reveals New Name Plate

The Gateway takes on a new look this week with the unveiling of a new name plate.

The new plate, which appears at the top of this page, was designed by artists at the Top Engraving and Advertising Company, 4110 Commercial Avenue.

Just for the record, the new plate now in use is only the third to be used by Gateway editors.

We hope you like it.

Band Day Honors Retiring Dr. Bail

Hruska Gives Plaque During Half-Time

President Milo Bail will be honored tomorrow at the largest Band Day festivities in the history of the Omaha University Music Department.

Nebraska Senator Roman Hruska and some 1000 Nebraska and Iowa high school musicians will be on campus to participate in the activities.

The days events will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a parade in downtown Omaha. The parade will start at 17th and Chicago Streets and proceed east to 16th Street. It will then move south on 16th to Farnam Street and west on Farnam Street to the Court House. The state flag of Nebraska, recently purchased by OU, will be flown for the first time during the parade.

Dr. Bail and Senator Hruska will be presented with tie clasp emblems of OU at a luncheon to be held in the Student Center. Senator Hruska will introduce Dr. Bail at half-time and present him with a plaque on behalf of the OU Band.

Sharpe: Space Problem May Force Revamping of Registration Methods

Omaha University Registrar Virgil Sharpe admitted this week the present registration procedure will "no doubt have to be changed in the future," because of what Sharpe called a "problem of space in the Administration building."

To the students who waited in line, registration may have seemed like an eternity. Registrar Sharpe, however said actual time to register amounted to about an average of one hour for students.

According to university President Dr. Milo Bail, enrollment this year exceeded 8500 as compared with last year's total of 8138. Dr. Bail added, "Classes were filled quicker in all divisions."

However, Sharpe said these figures are still inclusive, noting he expects an additional 600-700 more students to enroll this week.

According to Sharpe, the major problem area, once again, was closed classes. Those students primarily affected were freshmen, sophomores and transfer students. The reason? "Later registration," Sharpe said.

And, as usual, the first classes to close were the general survey courses and the English classes. "Right now," Sharpe admitted, "I don't know what we can do about the problem," noting the fact many juniors and seniors still have English courses to complete before acquiring their degree.

Changing classes during registration also presented its problems, according to the registrar. He noted this slowed things down considerably and then added, hopefully, "If we had been able to give every student the classes he wanted, registration would have been completed in a day and a half."

Bail Welcomes 1500 Freshmen

President Bail addressed over 1,500 incoming freshmen last Saturday at opening of New Student Day.

The occasion marked the seventeenth and final welcoming speech made by the university president who will retire on January 30 following mid-year commencement ceremonies.

Dr. Bail pointed out to the new students assembled in the Field House only four-out of ten of them would stay at the university and graduate. He remarked the reason for this would be "many would not give their education a concentrated effort."

In words that have echoed over the years, Dr. Bail challenged students to put "their best foot forward" because the nation needed men and women with educated skills, courage and desire.

OU Political Groups Plan Active Campaign

Officers of both political groups at Omaha University reported interest is up sharply over the past year.

The Young Democrats said over 180 students have signed up; the Young Republicans said they have over 140 members. This represents over a 100 percent increase in membership for both clubs.

Both Bruce Dickinson, acting YR chairman, and Jordan Hill, acting YD chairman, said the interest stems from the forthcoming November election. Neither said he thought all who signed up would be hard-core workers.

"We have to be realistic," Dickinson said. "We realize some acted on impulse when they signed."

"Others will be active until the November election," Hill noted. "It's our duty to make these clubs popular after elections."

Both clubs plan to actively engage in the political fight this fall. But they have chosen different routes to meet goals.

The YDs said they will work hand-in-hand with the Douglas County Young Demos. The YRs said they are a separate organization and will work alone.

On tap for the YRs is a "car rally" late in October. Dickinson said about 50 cars will stop at various eastern Nebraska towns before meeting at Dana College with other college and university YR groups.

The YDs plan to publish a bi-weekly newsletter for the Douglas County Central Committee.

Both groups will conduct a voter registration drive.

Africa Traveler

Connecticut-born Dr. Thomas Melady will be the institute's guest speaker the night of October 21st.

A constant traveler in Black Africa for the past ten years, Dr. Melady is qualified to speak on, "Africa: A Continuing Dilemma."

The personal friend of more than 30 Black African national leaders, Dr. Melady was among those instrumental for establishing the Peace Corps in 1961.

Dr. Melady's contribution to the literary world include such books as "The White Man's Future in Black Africa", "Profiles of African Leaders", "Faces of Africa" and "The Revolution of Color."

Former OSS Member

Kermit Roosevelt, since 1958 vice-president in charge of international affairs for the Gulf Oil Corporation, speaks on "Middle East: Perpetual Challenge of Stability", the night of October 28th.

A member of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) during World War I he worked in many Middle East countries and Italy.

After his discharge in 1946, he spent a year writing the official record of wartime activities of the OSS.

After four years of free-lance writing in Europe, Roosevelt re-entered government service and was a Special Consultant to the Secretary of State on Middle Eastern Affairs. His job in 1954 shifted to covering the problems of world communism and its threat to United States security. He has worked closely with the Central Intelligence Agency, (CIA) the post-war version of the OSS.

Former President Eisenhower awarded Roosevelt the National Security Medal in recognition for his services to the CIA—an honor bestowed on only three other men to date.

"Red China and Southeast Asia", will be the topic of Willem T. Oltmans, international reporter, on November 11th.

As a Dutch citizen, Oltmans has been able to visit many areas normally off limits to American reporters. His work recently has taken him to Communist China, Indonesia and Asia.

Yale-Educated, Oltmans has covered the major news events of the past decade—working for United Press International and various Dutch, European and Asian periodicals.

He has been described as a "keen wit" and "mature thinker."

LOOK Editor

Leonard Gross, senior editor of Look magazine since 1959 and since 1961 specializing in Latin American affairs, with his last two years being spent doing in-depth stories as LOOK bureau chief in Rio De Janeiro, is the participant scheduled for November 18th.

Traveling more than 100,000 miles in nine countries during his Latin-American tenure, Gross has covered such subjects as the impact of Castro, the Catholic Church in Latin America and Communism in Brazil.

His topic, "Latin America: Communism — Militarism — Democracy" is one he's amply qualified to discuss.

A winner of the Freedoms Foundation Award, Gross is fluent both in Spanish and Portuguese languages.

1964 has an will present challenges to the world as never seen before. Students should and can be informed on these 19th Annual Institute of World challenges by attending the Affairs, starting October 7th.

Mutual Hikes Cost Of Package Policy

Total Cost Is Up $4.25 Over Last Year

Mutual of Omaha will again offer students at Omaha University a package insurance policy, but at a slightly higher price than last year.

Due to the unexpected number of claims filed last year the cost of the insurance policy was raised from $15.75 to $20.00, said insurance agent Terry Haney, of R. D. Marcotte and Associates.

Haney estimated that 650 OU students purchased policies last year. He said that he is confident that more will sign up this year since the brochure explaining the insurance plan was mailed to prospective students. The brochure lists the benefits under its coverage for full-time students.

The Student Accident and Sickness Insurance Plan was instituted by Omaha University on a "bid" basis.

Mutual received the contract on last year's bid. Haney said, "a comparable insurance policy would cost an individual well over $70 a year."

Dean of students Donald Pflasterer said several students and their parents have expressed their approval of the insurance plan.

The deadline for signing up for the insurance is October 10. The policy becomes effective September 10, 1964; or at the time of purchase.

Small College Champs Face Bitter OU Here

From The Bushes

Ouch!!

The weeping and gnashing of teeth has been much in evidence this week after the 30-0 stunner at Idaho State last week. But was it so much of a surprise? The Bengals had an offensive line that averaged in the neighborhood of 230 pounds per animal. And that ain't light....

The Idaho team was a veteran ball club, two deep at every spot and certainly the class of the Rocky Mountain area major-small college teams. I won't be at all surprised if they are among the top five in the first ratings.

Oh, one note of interest on Idaho State.... Word from the spaghetti vine tells us that the school awards its head coach with a total of 54 full ride scholarships each year. That's exactly what Nebraska U. was giving a couple of years back. Omaha U. has 37 tuition grants available... this is in-city tuition only. Out of town athletes pay the cost over and above the city rate. That's spreading the butter pretty thin.

With Salt?

Shoe leather doesn't rank with my favorite dinner time delights but there comes a time ever so often when it has to be eaten. In this case the chef is Don Crum. He was panned for poor tackling in this column last time out. Well, his play last week proved that Donny belongs with the best on the squad. He appears to be 100 percent improved. Another big surprise was his pass catching ability demonstrated in the pre-season game. He may be one of the top receivers if coaches elect to use him on offense.

Grades Lowered By Irregular Attendance

Students are required to attend all classes for which they are registered. No class cuts are allowed. Irregular attendance results in lower class grades.

Absence reports are regularly sent to the academic deans and to the Dean of Student Personnel, who will take appropriate disciplinary action. In the case of an unavoidable absence it is the students responsibility to contact his instructor promptly and arrange to make up any work missed.

Omahans Receive Service Awards

The "Order of the Tower" has been given to 12 Omahans by the University of Omaha for their effort to help the University grow. These citizens were honored at a special luncheon.

Dr. Milo Bail presented the specially designed lapel pins to Louis Somberg, V. J. Skutt, F. E. Borchers, Ralph Kiplinger, Herbert Marshall, Robert H. Storz, A. D. Majors, W. Dean Vogel, Harold Hultman, Fred Moshier, Charlie Mancuso and John Eidam.

Cardie Asks Harriers To Report Now

Cross Country coach Lloyd Cardwell has asked all men interested in trying out for the squad to report as soon as it is possible.

The busiest schedule in recent years awaits the Indian runners. OU was unbeaten last year in five meets, the first time in history that it has happened. Cross Country was dropped several years ago for lack of interest.

Six dual meets and one triangular have been arranged by Cardwell for the 1964 season. In addition, teams will be entered in conference and NAIA competition. First meet is scheduled October 2nd at Simpson College.

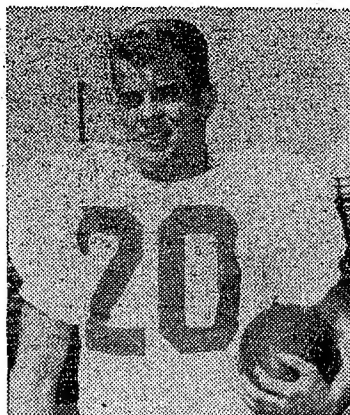

Other meets include home contests with Peru State, South Dakota, Yankton College, and Midland.

On the raid, the Indians will meet Dana, Nebraska Wesleyan, wood Par, just south of the the NAIA district meet at Doane College in Crete.

Top Indian runners, probably will come from a group headed by distance stars Ken Gould and Gerry Shook.

Home course will be Elmwood Park, just south of the campus. Elmwood has been the site of the NAIA Championship for the past several years.

Christian, Dean Top Targets As OU Seeks Revenge For Bengal Lacing

Dean.... Versatile

Christian.... runs, too

Northern Illinois, winner of 11 straight and 1963 NAIA top rated small college team, visits Omaha U, tomorrow as the 1964 home season begins with Band Day. The Huskies opened last week with a 33-13 drubbing of Whitewater State at home.

OU assistant Don Benning, who scouted Northern last week, calls them as good defensively, but not quite as explosive offensively as last year's small college kingpins that beat OU, 18-7.

Quarterback Ron Christian, who has taken over for the great George Bork, is a good running threat who also can throw the ball. Operating out of Northern's "Blitz-T" offense, Christian completed 13 of 30 passes for 156 yard against Whitewater.

Dean Runs Well

Senior halfback Jack Dean is the number one runner for the Huskies. Dean ran for 175 yards against Whitewater as the usually air-minded Northern team rolled to 264 yards on the ground.

Dean also alternates at quarterback and Christian moves to the halfback post, making a double passing threat. Favorite target is 235 pound Iowa State transfer Leigh Gilbert at left end.

Game time for what promises to be a good one is 2 o'clock at OU stadium; 13 high school bands will perform at halftime.
